The Group Contract is part of the mandatory assignment (oblig), Preliminary Report. You need to pass the assignment to get approved to the exam. You submit the Group Contract as a group. Each group submits only one Group Contract.

The Group Contract is an agreement among all members. You sign it because you fully understand it and agree with it.

The Group Contract is similar as when you work in a team in a company. It contains important agreements on how members work together, distribute tasks, and deadlines. The group contract also includes methods for tracking progress and contribution, ensuring accountability, strategies for resolving group conflicts and consequence for insufficient contributions (e.g., individual evaluation of a member. The member is namely kick-out of the group and receives an individual grade. The rest of the group receives another grade).

The intention of the Group Contract is to reduce group conflicts by clarifying the way of working, deadlines, and strategies of potential group conflicts, and strengthening the agreements among the members.

Group name (not group number)

Find a good name for your group. The group name is optional. Do not choose simple numbers. Each group will be assigned a group number automatically.

Be up to date project

Do delegated task and keep deadlines

How to keep track of the contribution? That will serve as evidence for insufficient contribution. *

E.g.,

- We have meeting protocol for tracking the meeting attendance.
- We have a list/table of author and chapter/section list to keep track of writing contribution.
- We use github to keep track of coding contribution. In addition, we also have extra documents, screen shoots, email exchange, as evidence.

We use GIT and physical meetings

What will happen if some member does not contribute sufficiently? *

E.g., we have the following procedure:

- Step1: We have our milestones for each group member, and internal deadlines for them. If they fail to contribute sufficiently, there will be a resolving conversation between the group coordinator, other group members, and the memeber of insufficient contribution.
- Step 2: if step 1 could not resolve the issue, we bring the issue to the attention of teaching assistants and meet as a group with the teaching assistant.
- Step 3: if step 2 could not resolve the issue before the final deadline of 15 Nov, the group coordinator will submit an application of individual evaluation of group member to the course responsible (The member is namely kick-out of the group and receives an individual grade. The rest of the group receives another grade).

Everybody does their best.
